Adds six new practice partnerships and hires 340 new radiologists since January 2020 to support new site additions

(EL SEGUNDO, Calif.) April 5, 2021 – Radiology Partners (RP), a leading radiology practice in the U.S., today announced significant expansion through six new partnerships with leading radiology practices providing services in California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Tennessee, Texas, Wisconsin and Wyoming. These practices also include the largest women’s imaging practice in the country. The continued growth is further evidence of the value RP brings to local practices and clients.

The partnerships, which closed Q4 2020 through Q1 2021, are a continuation of the Practice’s leading growth efforts as it continues to build scale and drive innovation to transform radiology. With these additions, as well as the recent MEDNAX Radiology Solutions acquisition in December 2020, RP now has physician-led local practices in 33 states and offers teleradiology services nationwide.

“RP’s continued growth throughout 2020 and into 2021 is a testament to our strong financial position, as well as our focus on local practice autonomy, physician leadership and physician ownership,” said Rich Whitney, Chief Executive Officer, Radiology Partners. We are proud to partner with these leading practices that share our vision for extraordinary clinical value and service.”

Separately, RP also expanded significantly as a result of a record year, taking live 59 sites in 2020 across its network of existing and new clients. To support this growth, the Practice successfully recruited more than 340 radiologists since January 2020. While a challenging time to recruit and hire new physicians, the RP recruitment team pivoted quickly to develop a virtual experience for candidates ensuring a continued robust pipeline of talented new hires. Efforts include tele-interviewing, enhanced onboarding and advanced licensing programs.

RP continues to seek new partnerships with innovative physicians and practices with shared values and a goal of transforming the radiology field and positively impacting healthcare.
