Continued emphasis on physician leadership as Office of the Chief Medical Officer Expands to 15

(EL SEGUNDO, Calif.) September 21, 2021 - Radiology Partners (RP), a leading radiology practice in the U.S., today announced the promotion of two radiologists to Associate Chief Medical Officer (ACMO) roles. Dr. Ricardo Cury and Dr. Catherine Everett will join the Office of the Chief Medical Officer as ACMO of Data Strategy and ACMO of Analytics, respectively. Established in March 2021, RP's Office of the Chief Medical Officer now comprises 15 senior physician executives, emphasizing RP's commitment to physician leadership at every level of the practice.

Dr. Catherine Everett

“Investing in radiologist leadership and amplifying radiologist voices is critical to advancing our mission of transforming radiology,” said Rich Whitney, RP Chairman and CEO. “Both Dr. Cury and Dr. Everett bring valuable experience and expertise to the Office of the Chief Medical Officer, and we are thrilled to expand and enhance our data and analytics capabilities through their leadership and collaboration with other RP physicians as well as radiology practices across the country.”

Dr. Cury (@cury_ricardo) will serve as ACMO of Data Strategy to align and prioritize data and analytics activities with key practice strategic priorities, goals and objectives. Dr. Everett (@cjeverett) will serve as ACMO of Practice Analytics to develop and drive RP's analytic reporting capabilities and bolster resources across local practices. As senior executives within the practice, Drs. Cury and Everett will join other ACMO leaders focused on operations, integrations, communications and health policy, clinical artificial intelligence, clinical technology and data, radiologist experience, clinical value, research and education, and recruitment and growth.
