Dr. Ethan Foxman

(EL SEGUNDO, Calif.) March 29, 2022 - Radiology Partners (RP), a leading radiology practice in the U.S., today announced the appointment of two additional radiologists to Associate Chief Medical Officer (ACMO) roles. Dr. Ethan Foxman and Dr. Aaron Hattaway will join the Office of the Chief Medical Officer as ACMOs of Clinical Operations for the East and of Internal Market Development, respectively.

“Dr. Foxman and Dr. Hattaway both bring extensive experience and expertise to their new roles,” said Rich Whitney, RP Chairman and CEO. “Their collaboration with other radiologist executives, clinical teams and operational leaders across the country will strengthen our ability to offer clinical value and operational excellence at scale. We are proud of our continued investment in positioning radiologists to lead our teams as we work toward our mission to transform our specialty.”

Dr. Aaron Hattaway

As ACMO of Clinical Operations for the East, Dr. Foxman (@EthanFoxman) will support the implementation of clinical programs, IT and AI tools and serve as a resource for practice presidents within the designated operating area. As ACMO for Internal Market Development, Dr. Hattaway

(@DrAHattaway) will partner with business development and local practice leaders to design, support and enhance RP's growth through new relationships with hospital and health system clients.

Established in March 2021, RP's Office of the Chief Medical Officer continues to grow in response to the needs of the practice. Now at 17 senior physician executives, the Office of the CMO underscores RP's continued emphasis on radiologist leadership within the practice. Dr. Foxman and Dr. Hattaway join other ACMO leaders focused on operations, integrations, communications and health policy, clinical artificial intelligence, clinical technology and data, radiologist experience, clinical value, research and education, practice analytics and data strategy, recruitment and growth.
