Celebrating National Doctors' Day: Recognizing Our Radiologists

Dr. Krishna Nallamshetty

As National Doctors Day approaches on March 30, I want to take a moment to express my heartfelt gratitude to all physicians for the compassionate care they provide to patients in our communities across the country.

In particular, I am deeply grateful for the radiologists I work alongside at Radiology Partners (RP). Every radiologist at RP plays a vital role in our practice and in our collective mission to transform radiology.

Your expertise in our field, your collaborative partnership with our referring providers and clinical teams, and your dedication to providing high-quality radiology care inspire me every day. It is your work that brings our mission to life.

Despite the challenges we continue to face in our specialty and industry, we remain committed to advancing our practice and our specialty in innovative ways—all for the benefit of our patients.

Thank you for everything you do, and happy Doctors' Day!
