At Radiology Partners, we believe our people are our greatest asset. It's not just the positions they hold, but the passion, dedication and teamwork they bring every day.

That's why we proudly celebrate National Employee Appreciation Day—a day dedicated to recognizing the individuals who make our practice great. Although at RP, we refer to it as "Teammate Appreciation Day." Our teammates embody the spirit of collaboration, teamwork and a strong sense of belonging. Their contributions drive our success and foster an environment where patient care is paramount, and innovation and excellence thrive.

What our teammates are saying about each other

This year, Radiology Partners received Great Place to Work Certification™ for the fifth consecutive year, confirming more than 80% of RP teammates say the practice offers a flexible, welcoming environment where they can be themselves at work. When asked, "What makes this organization a great place to work?" our teammates' responses reflect the dynamic, supportive culture they've worked so hard to build. Read a few of these responses below:
